Minors By Month – listed in rightmost seven columns in roster charts.

Note – the specific relievers may vary from this list, especially after June or so; I will send updates/series instructions to indicate any changes.

General Introduction: Munich is rebuilding, and hopes to reach the .500 mark this season. Use the resources to optimize winning chances according to the general guidelines above and good baseball sense. But, above all else, enjoy the games! WE WILL RETURN!!! ☺

Lineups and Usage

General – 1. Use these boxes by month for guidance regarding usage and substitution decisions.

Lineups 2011

April Lineup, Usage, Substitutions/Bench Notes

1	CF	Dickerson	plays whole game
2	LF	Spilborghs	plays whole game
3	RF	Bautista	plays whole game
4	DH	[1]	starter plays whole game
5	2B	[2]	Lugo for defense any time Munich leads after 5th inning
6	1B	[3]	starter plays whole game
7	SS	Donald	plays whole game
8	3B	Inge	plays whole game
9	C	Pierzynski	plays whole game (unless PR called for)

- [1] Giambi vs LHP; Thames vs RHP (yes, reverse platoon!)
- [2] Lugo vs LHP on BOARDS only; Wigginton on PC, board RHP
- [3] Laporta vs LHP; Smoak vs RHP

BENCH

- PH Laporta can PH for Pierzynski if pitcher has negative CTL. In that case, Inge to C.
- DEF Lugo at 2B any time Munich leads after 5th inning

** DO NOT USE Aybar or Heyward off the bench!

NO OTHER BENCH MOVES FOR APRIL!*May-Aug & Oct Lineup, Usage, Substitutions/Bench Notes

1	CF	Heyward	plays whole game
2	LF	Spilborghs	plays whole game
3	RF	Bautista	plays whole game
4	C	Posey	plays whole game

[2] Donald vs LHP on BOARDS only; Wigginton on PC, board RHP

[3] Laporta vs LHP; Smoak vs RHP

BENCH

PR Dickerson for 1B, DH who is tying/lead run in 8th or later. He can steal second if chance 27+. Leave Dickerson at DH or 1B.

PH Laporta can PH for Pierzynski or Aybar if pitcher has negative CTL. Donald moves to SS;
OR: Inge to C + Bautista to 3B + Dickerson to RF.

DEF Donald at 2B any time Munich leads after 5th inning

NO OTHER BENCH MOVES!*September Lineup, Usage, Substitutions/Bench Notes

1	CF	Heyward	plays whole game
2	1B	[3]	starter plays whole game, unless PR for
3	RF	Bautista	plays whole game

[2] Donald vs LHP on BOARDS only; Wigginton on PC, board RHP

[3] Laporta vs LHP; Smoak vs RHP

BENCH

PH Laporta/Bradley can PH for Aybar if pitcher has negative CTL. Donald moves to SS.

DEF Donald at 2B any time Munich leads after 5th inning

** DO NOT USE Spilborghs off the bench!

NO OTHER BENCH MOVES FOR SEPTEMBER!*Offensive Tactics (General Guidance):Hit-and-Run (#1):

Batters with an "H" in the Hitting column of the roster should hit and run any time they are eligible, unless the pitcher's control is -24 or worse or the runner on first is an N.

Steal (#2):

Most steal attempts will come off the hit and run. However, in late innings of a one-run game, any runner with an adjusted SSN of 27+ can try for second UNLESS the batter has a first-column 5.

Bunt:

Very rare! Basically, only in very late innings of a one-run or tie game, to move a man to scoring position when NEITHER the current batter nor the on-deck man have much power (less than 4 power numbers and no first-column 1). Don't squeeze.

Runner Advancement:

Most Marauders are 'average' speed this year.

- With the fast runners be responsibly aggressive, especially when heading home, and especially with two out. (The term is "aggressive", though, not "stupid" – I don't want even a fast runner to go home on 6 chances, or a slow/average runner to try going first to third on a single to left, for example....)
- With slow runners, be content to play station to station, unless the hit is so deep that the chance is 30+ and it makes sense in game terms.
- With average runners, use your judgment based on the game situation. But don't be overly aggressive and take the bat away from a big hitter.
- Computer gamers: always send my runner home if he is "well around" third. Always send a runner who is "well around" second on to third IF Munich LEADS or is TIED, with 0 or 1 out. Never send a runner who is "rounding" the base. Have fast trailing runners try to advance if you throw for the leading runner; do not have slow trailing runners try to advance. Don't have anyone try for the triple when that choice is given.

Infield In; Outfield Throws; Hold Runners – Use your best baseball judgment and common sense.

Pitching:

Starters:

I'd like to get 6 innings from any starter, but don't stretch them if the game is at all close – if it's within 3 either way, pull them at the first base-runner in the 6th or later. (Conversely if they're in a blowout, let the starter go until forced out, OR it gets close again.)

Relievers: Enough relief (way over 450 IP) that the starters don't have to be stretched. BUT, only enough 'good' grades and peripherals to allow covering the reasonable win chances that may come along. Still - Maximize the plus-5's, and use the balance of lefty/righty arms to counter your platoon hitters where possible, and see what happens!

- Putz – Works save opportunities in the 8th/9th/extra innings. Ideally no more than 1 IP / game.
- Sale – NOT the saver! When active, he is a RALLY-KILLER, working no more than an IP, 6th on of close game when one or two men reach base, ends the inning (or is replaced if he is scored on).
- Ziegler/Walden (RH); Breslow/Purcey (LH) –setup men, normally one of each hand active at a time. Use in 6th-8th innings as a bridge to the closer when Munich leads. Secondary saver(s) if needed.
- Janssen/Rodriguez – Middle relief, works 6th-8th innings when Munich trails.
- Mejia/Ross – Long relief, when game is close but reliever needed before 6th; OR secondary middle men 6th on.
- Weinhardt/Harden/Francis – Mops, if/when active.

Injury Subs:

C – Posey (if game is close), Pierzynski or Inge (if game is not close)

1B – Smoak, Laporta, Wigginton, Giambi, Thames

2B – Wigginton, Donald,

3B – Inge, Bautista, Wigginton, Thames

SS – Aybar, Donald

OF – see Lineups and Usage for guidance, usually Dickerson (or Bradley)

DH – Giambi/Thames, available bat except for players with limited PA
